

HIGHLY COMMENDED

B&W ASW700 $2999

The B&W ASW700 subwoofer has a relatively small but long-throw 250mm driver in a sealed enclosure. However, that doesn't stop it from being a superlative performer.

In fact, the ASW700 impresses with its substantial construction and all-round quality. On-board is a 500W amplifier and a handy two-position equalisation switch. Remarkably, for a subwoofer with modest and room-friendly dimensions, the B&W dips down to an ultra-deep 17Hz. And as the specifications would suggest, sound-wise this subwoofer was quite a performer, outputting room-filling bass that was obviously very deep and that shook the room with its low distortion power. Outstanding.
